GOVERNMENT SUIT REACTS ON THE MARKET

NEW YORK, May 22.—Contracted dealings in stocks today seemed to indicate some subsidence of speculative interest, the total sales falling off to the smallest for any day this week.

The day's reaction came at the time announcement was made that suit had been filed by the government against the New Haven system, alleging violation of the anti-trust law.

The special heaviness of Amalgamated Copper was partly in response to the decline of that metal in London.

The renewed decision of the steel magnates to maintain the prices of their finished products seemed to meet with the favor of stock operators, United States Steel rising sharply at the outset.

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, May 22.—Tin was unchanged at $133 for spot in London, while futures were a little higher, at $132. Locally the market was dull and unchanged at 29.25 to 29.50.

Copper was lower on the English market with spot at $57, 7s, 6d and futures 58s, 2s, 6d. The local market was quiet and unchanged with lake 12.75 to 13, electrolytic 12.62½ to 12.87½ and casting 12.50 to 12.62½.

Lead advanced to $13, 2s, 6d in London. The local market was firm and higher at 4.32½ to 4.37½.

Spelter was unchanged at $20 in London and 4.55 to 4.60 on the local market.

Iron was steady and unchanged.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, May 22.—Cattle: Receipts 1,500. Steady. Beefers, 4.75 to 5.30; Texans, 4.60 to 5.60; westerns, 4.50 to 5.75; stockers and feeders, 3.50 to 5.40; cows and heifers, 2.30 to 6.10; calves, 5 to 6.50.

So the People May Know

We Want Everyone to Read This Article.

In reply to a certain article printed in the Los Angeles Times (The anti-labor organization paper) and circulated here in Globe by a certain real estate man (who is trying to knock McCord & Orpin and their properties), we have this to say:

The property handled by the McCord Company in Los Angeles was "The original town" of Searchlight, Nevada, and not property situated miles from the town, as that article would have you believe. The town of Searchlight has NEVER BEEN MOVED, and stands today on the ground owned by The McCord Company. The Company consisted of H. H. McCord and his father; and the father is still in Los Angeles looking after their Searchlight property. So this brands the story as untrue that "McCord had to leave Los Angeles."

We wish to say, further, that we have now at the Dominion Hotel the original photographs of Searchlight, together with maps, etc., to prove our statements.

When another company, called "The Terminal Townsite Co.," started a subdivision over one mile from the original town and advertised in the "Times" that the business men of Searchlight were going to move, etc., the business men of the town got up and signed a remonstrance, denouncing the methods of the "Terminal people" and branding them as FAKIRS.

This document (together with another one signed by practically all of the purchasers of the McCord property, that went to Searchlight "Railroad Day," when McCord gave his big excursion) is on file in our rooms at the Dominion Hotel, and we want any "Doubting Thomas" to call and see for himself.

Following is an article which was published in this same "Los Angeles Times," which will explain itself:

Los Angeles Daily Times

SUNDAY JANUARY 20, 1907

TOWNSITE RUCTION

Old Searchlight Bitterly Resents Booming of New Sites, and Issues Proclamation

SEARCHLIGHT, Nev., January 17.—Searchlight is all torn up over a townsite squabble. The town is built on the slope of the hills, and down in the flat a new townsite company has laid out lots around the Santa Fe depot location and is trying to induce the old town to pull up stakes and slide down hill. The advertising placed by the new townsite company in the Los Angeles papers to promote the sale of lots has aroused the old town people to wrath and they have issued a proclamation, signed by about 90 per cent of the property owners and business men, emphatically denying that they intend to move. The business houses of Searchlight are not of the flimsy, temporary character common to most mining camps, but costly, well built structures. The town has a water system, affording ample fire protection; a modern electric light and power plant, banks, hotels and mercantile houses of solid construction, and a determination to stay right where it is.

The indignant Searchlighters say: "The proposed line of railroad that is building into Searchlight is about twenty-five miles long, and most likely the desert adjacent to it on both sides will eventually be platted and sold as choice building and residence lots to the unsuspecting public by unscrupulous townsite boomers. However, the responsible men, who have made Searchlight, advocate the square deal and will not be parties to assisting the fake townsite boomers that are being foisted on the public through extensive advertising."

To those who know the real "truth about Searchlight," the statements made by the Terminal Townsite are absurd, and whatever possessed this company to attempt to boost its addition at the expense of the town is more than anyone can understand. The natural advantages of the addition have been kept in the background, and first and foremost the public has been told that the town was to be moved to Terminal holdings. Although the owners of the Terminal townsite object to having their property termed an addition, nevertheless, that is what it is—an addition to the town of Searchlight. It is located in the neighborhood of a mile to the west of town, and aside from the buildings of the Boulder Mining company, the surface rights of which the townsite company has acquired, there is absolutely at the present writing not a single improvement of any kind whatsoever.

The resources of this district are being successfully exploited and as a result the town is growing rapidly, and it is not at all improbable that the limits of the town will be gradually extended until they embrace the Terminal as well as other new additions.

People are getting the idea that there is too much townsite business mixed up with the building of the Barnwell & Searchlight railroad and unless this idea is corrected the Santa Fe is liable not to receive the volume of business the enterprise merits.

The Barnwell & Searchlight railway has now been in process of construction for almost a year. The grade has been completed and trains are running out nine miles from Barnwell. The completed grade extends to the edge of town about 1,500 feet from the central portion of the town.

The completed grade belies the statement that it would be necessary to construct miles of railroad over a hilly portion in order to reach the town. The grade speaks for itself, and to bring the road in as near to the business portion of the town as any one could desire all that would be necessary would be to extend the grade on up the gulch it now is in for an additional distance of about 1,000 feet.

HANDS DOWN DECISIONS IN MANY CASES

TERRITORY'S HIGHEST TRIBUNAL
CONCLUDES SESSION IN PHOENIX—CASES SETTLED.

PHOENIX, May 21.—The supreme court of the territory has adjourned after handing down a large number of decisions in cases which had been appealed to this tribunal from the lower courts.

In the case of Manuel Ramirez, who is wanted in Mexico for the alleged forging of some custom house receipts, and who was ordered deported some time ago by United States Commissioner Dunsmuth at Tucson, the court directed the dismissal of the writ of habeas corpus which had been issued. Attorney Selim Franklin for the defense gave notice of an appeal to the supreme court of the United States.

In the case of Eduardo Ramirez the court ordered that the defendant file a new bond within thirty days. One of the bondsmen who qualified for the defendant some months ago, died during the interval.

In the following cases the court rendered no decisions, allowing them to go over until the next term: The Territory vs. Storms, formerly treasurer of Yavapai county; Leatherwood vs. Richardson, and Work vs. the United Globe Mining company.

Motions for rehearing in the following cases were overruled: Gross vs. the Territory; Pablo Soto vs. Territory; Lilly L. Gill vs. Manhattan Insurance company; M. Donahue vs. El Paso & Southwestern railroad; May Clark vs. the Liberty Mining company; the Copper Queen Belle Mining company vs. Costello; Richardson vs. Aimen; Sandoval vs. Randolph; Greene vs. Hereford; the Greene Cattle company vs. Hereford; Richardson vs. Manz.

The court granted rehearings in the cases of the Western Arizona railroad company vs. Foster S. Dennis, and Hankins vs. Helm.

Many notices of appeal from the court's decision were filed.

TO PUBLISH NEW PAPER.

TOMBSTONE, May 22.—According to the articles of incorporation of the "Citizens Publishing" company, that have been filed in the county recorder's office, a number of the citizens of Douglas have associated themselves together for the purpose of publishing a paper in Douglas to be called the Douglas Citizen. The amount of the capitalization is placed at $15,000 divided into 1,500 shares. Among the incorporators are C. A. Overlock, J. G. Gowan, A. W. Pickinger, and Dr. Hickman.
